BRITISH HISTORY WRONG.

A Misleading Account of the Battle of White Plains.

In its series of supplements recounting "The Battle Honors of the Service" The British Navy and Army Illustrated once in awhile says something about the British forces in the Revolutionary war. When it does, it is pretty sure to be inaccurate.

The cover of one issue of the "Battle Honors" has a spirited picture of Bragg's grenadiers winning the battle of White Plains, where they won the name of the "Slashers," because they threw away their flintlocks and carried an entrenchment with their short swords. The picture is entitled "The Slashers at the Battle of White Plains, 1775."

The battle of White Plains was fought, as a matter of fact, on Oct. 28, 1776. It is stated in the publication that Washington sent 8,000 men to occupy a hill above the ford of the "Branx," and that this position was carried by the "Slashers" with their swords. It is also said that "soon after this turning movement General Washington, abandoning his stores, retired with his army toward Connecticut."

As a matter of fact the position referred to was held by 1,400 Americans under General McDougal and was carried by a British force of 4,000. One would think from reading the British version of the fight that the "Slashers" whipped the entire American army. There were other British regiments engaged in the work of carrying Chatterton hill, and it is unfair to them to give all the credit to the "Slashers."

Of what took place after the position was carried the version given by The Navy and Army Illustrated is deliberately misleading. The facts are that when the hill was carried General McDougal retired to Washington's camp with a loss of 80 prisoners and 100 killed and wounded. Howe did not dare to attack Washington, but sent for reinforcements, and on Nov. 5 moved his augmented army to Dobbs Ferry. Washington, being confronted by superior numbers, retired, not toward Connecticut, but across the Hudson to New Jersey on Nov. 9.

When a nation starts out to write its military history and distorts it in some particulars, it makes one doubt the truth of all. The truth about the battle of White Plains would redound just as much to the glory of the "Slashers" as does the perverted account published by the navy and army.—New York Press.

SHADOWING A FOOTBALLER.

The Scheme of a Team to Down a Successful Rival.

Several years ago a young athlete named D— was conspicuous as a football player. He was a swift runner, a reliable drop kicker and an excellent all round player. He had proved such a tower of strength on his college eleven that rival teams feared him, and when rumors to the effect that he had received money for his services were circulated steps were eagerly taken by the football authorities of an opposing college to investigate his amateur status. If he had received money, as alleged, he was no longer an amateur and could be barred from a place on the team.

Accordingly an emissary was dispatched, with the usual oppressive college secrecy, to the village of S— where the suspected player resided when at home. The father of D— was a well to do farmer, and the spy, passing as a book agent, experienced little difficulty in getting him to talk about his son.

"Famous," he said, with no great show of enthusiasm. "Well, I s'pose the boy is famous, but there isn't much in this football."

"But a fellow as famous as he is must get a good salary," the spy suggested, with a craftily assumed air of innocence.

"Nope," said the farmer. "Football players don't get a salary."

"That's odd," continued the spy. "I heard he was kicking for cash."

"Well, that's right. He is," the father slowly admitted.

The spy was secretly overjoyed. He chuckled inwardly and fairly hugged himself with delight. In fancy the rival team was already deprived of her strongest player.

"So he's kicking for cash at college, is he?" he echoed.

"Yes," the farmer said wearily, "yes, he's kickin' for more cash 'most every letter I get."

And then the disgusted spy kicked himself, metaphorically speaking, all the way back to college.—Harper's Bazar.

European Travel.

Children are taken abroad so young that before they have reached an age to appreciate what they see Europe has become a twice told tale to them. So true is this that a recipe for making your children good Americans is to bring them up abroad. Once they get back here, it is hard to entice them away again. With each improvement in the speed of our steamers vanishes something of the glamour of Europe, and the crowds that yearly rush across see less and appreciate less in a lifetime than our parents did in their one tour abroad.—Exchange.

Long Eared.

"You ought to have your ears boxed," said Miss Sharpley to a young freshman who had just stolen a kiss.

"Well," he asked, "why don't you do it?"

"I would," she replied, "if I had a box large enough."—Chicago News.

With the exception of birds, men's legs are longer in proportion to their body than those of any other animal. The human foot is broader and stronger than the foot of any other animal, so that man alone can stand upon one foot.

Relatively to population no European country can vie with New England in respect of manufactures.

Yoke Fellows.

Many women work too hard. There is no question about that. If they did not have love for a yoke fellow they could never endure it so fully, hardly grumbly and drudging of life. But they bear it cheerfully, sustained by loving thoughts of husband and children.

But when physical weakness or disease is added to a woman's burden it becomes altogether too heavy. No woman can be cheerful or hopeful who is dragged down by continual pain and physical wrenching.

Special weaknesses peculiar to the feminine organism are comparatively easy to overcome if the earlier symptoms are given proper attention. But if allowed to go unchecked, they are liable to develop into serious, chronic complications.

Any woman afflicted with these delicate ailments ought to have the immediate aid of Dr. Pierce's Famous Prescription. It is a special salve, feeling specific for all diseases of the feminine organs. It was designed for this one purpose, and accomplishes this purpose as no other medicine has ever done.

For nearly 30 years Dr. Pierce has been consulting physician of the world's Hotel and Surgical Institute at Buffalo, N. Y., where in connection with his staff of able specialists, he has successfully treated many thousand cases of "female complaint."

No physician living has had a more extended opportunity to study this class of diseases in actual practice. No medicine ever invented has done for women what his "Favorite Prescription" has.

Mr. Sain, formerly of the Gold Creek News, has issued the first number of the Mountain City Times, a very readable and well edited paper. Success to his venture.

E. Gerber, who has been working a trick at Thyss' this week, is up to date and popular with the boys. He understands his business and makes many friends in his quiet pleasant way.

E. Perkins, who lost his right hand at Truckee early in the week while working about some machinery, is reported as getting along very well and will probably return home next week.

Geney & Savage have the Domestic Hot Water Heater, which takes the place of water back; saves fuel and does not chill the oven. See them at their new store, opposite Hjor's stable. tf

Thyss' is always a popular resort. His card and reading rooms are quiet and his stock is selected from the very best of goods. All of the latest fancy and winter beverages prepared in an artistic manner.

George Hertrage, formerly an employee of the V. & T. and well known in Reno, was run over by a train while at work on the Oakland Mole and killed. He leaves a wife and five children residing in Carson.

To-day will be the last day of the reduced sale at the bamboo store. Everything is cut to bedrock and bargains are offered. If a piece of brie-a-brac, chair, book shelves or other article is wanted, to-day is the time to buy.

The Chicago Society of Proof-readers, recommends the general adoption of the following spellings: Controller, not comptroller; draft, not draught; drouth, not drought; program, not programme. And all thinking people will say "amen."

Interest in the proposed Trans-Mississippi exposition at Omaha is growing. The beauty contest promises to be a lively one in every County in the State. Colonel H. B. Maxon is receiving many encouraging letters regarding exhibits and Nevada will undoubtedly have a creditable display.

I have just received a complete and well selected stock of gents' furnishing goods, underwear, overhirts, socks, suspenders, handkerchiefs, ties, etc., which I guarantee to be equal if not better than any in the town, which I will sell at prices that defy competition. My stock of domestic and imported cigars and tobacco is complete in every particular, comprising such brands as the Nerve, Carl Dunder and Royal in the 5-cent goods, and El Belmont, Sanchez, Haya, De Vallens, Internationals, Hotel Brunswick, General Arthur and many others in the imported goods. Call and be satisfied. Free employment office in connection with the store. tf A. NELSON.

The Bohemians.

Although Reno is an incorporated city and in many ways endeavors to assume metropolitan airs, it has hardly reached that civilized degree where the Bohemian side of life and certain phases in society are exemplified. Reno has its 400, its various fraternal and social organizations all of which receive the usual recognition and it has its Bohemians but the latter through lack of organization, peculiar dispositions and the total depravity of ambition demonstrated by this class as far as public office is concerned, has not had a tendency to cause any affiliation, save the now and then casual meeting and the brief exchange of general ideas.

Telegraphers, reporters, printers, police officers, rounders and hobos, in fact those who are instrumental in keeping the world moving at night, when others sleep, are exclusive members of this set. The exclusiveness is not entirely from choice, but the others are prone to ignore them or give them the "marble heart or the glassy eye". It is however of small consequence to these Bohemians what their more favored brothers in iniquity think, for in the small hours of the early morn, there are frequent occasions, where if they were inclined to wag their tongues society might quake at its very foundations.

In order to bring the "gang" into closer touch and perfect something in the nature of a permanent organization it is proposed on Monday night to give a Bohemian banquet. Henry Riter's club-rooms will be made private and an elaborate banquet with the usual accompaniments of toasts and other embellishments will be a feature.

The courses will be varied and numerous and souvenir menus will be a feature of the occasion. Twenty-four covers will be laid at an agreed price of 15 cents each. The following is the menu:

Soup de Riter a la shadow.
Ouvert—Dago red.
Tamales—In five courses.
A la Upson.

1st.—Prospecting the corn husks for the tamale.

2d.—Tamales found. Yum yum.
3d.—A chicken feather discovered.

4th.—One of the guests finds an olive.

5th.—Can tomatoes and red pepper in lieu of chili calarace.

Beer.—Pabst and Wieland.
Swiss, Limburger and cream cheese.
Mora beer.

Oyster cocktails and sardines.

Mr. Allen Bragg, representing the press club will act as Toast Master and the following toasts will be responded to:

The Bohemians—Tom Brown.
Telegraphers—Frank Jones.
Fee Passes—W. D. Phillips.
The Police—R. C. Lester.
"An Ace Full"—Lou Cohn.
"The Girls"—Sam Armano.
"Free Lunch"—H. J. Thyss.
"The Bar"—Henry Riter.
Night Dispatches—Geo. Wilson.
The Press—Nate Roff.

The Festive Hobo—Dick Nash.
The Printer—Lee McLoat.

Promply at midnight the guests will arise from the table and will join Scott Hart, Scotty Cone, Bill Beard and Tom McLaughlin in the popular song, "There's a Hot Time in the Old Town To-night." Jim Kerr will accompany the singers on Henry Riter's regina.

NOTES.

Mrs. Brown, one of Silver City's oldest residents, was missed a day or two ago and, neighbors upon entering her house found her in a half-frozen condition.

While William Stephen was setting up a printing press in the establishment of Dickman and Jones, San Francisco, his head was caught in the machine and crushed like an egg shell.

Geo. Clark, the St. Helena tramp, is in danger of being mobbed and a strong guard is maintained constantly to protect him. The widow of his victim has been ordered to leave the town.

A scandal has developed in the Hanna family at Cleveland. Dan, son of the Senator, has been sued for divorce by his wife. Mrs. Hanna charges gross neglect and cruelty. The couple have three children.

It is now believed that the heavy frosts in Southern California have done more good than injury, from the fact that the vine pests and those on fruit trees have been destroyed. The frost is now considered to have been a blessing in disguise.

E. V. Spencer, an attorney of Susanville, has secured the arrest of Judge Kelley, the Superior Judge there, on a charge of battery. It will be remembered that during a proceeding in Court, Judge Kelley left the bench and struck Mr. Spencer in the face.

Beauty Contest in Washoe County for Omaha Exposition.

As Vice President Maxon has called upon me to furnish him with the names of the handsomest ladies in Washoe county, I have concluded to leave their selection to a vote of the ladies of the county.

All ladies, residents of Washoe county, may submit to me by written ballot, in person or by postal card through the mail, the names of eight ladies whom they consider the best looking in the county, and must sign their names to the list as the voter, and no one will be allowed more than one vote. On the 15th of February, the voter will be closed and the names of the eight ladies receiving the highest number of votes will be given to the Vice President and their photographs requested. These photos will be grouped with those chosen from the other counties of the State, and from this collection the Exposition management will choose two whose faces will be cast upon souvenir medals to be issued by the Omaha Exposition.

A Surprise.

Prof. and Mrs. Wilson were the recipients of a pleasant surprise party at their home last evening, tendered by the members of the Reno Dramatic Club. At a given signal the guests entered the house by every available entrance and the surprise was complete. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, however, were made the guests on this occasion and were entertained throughout. Music and pleasant conversation whiled away the evening hours, when finally the ladies of the party prepared a substantial collation and it was discussed amidst a flow of wit, sentiment and pleasant repartee. The occasion was a kindly expression of the club to Mr. and Mrs. Wilson of the appreciation of the members of many enjoyable hours spent at their home. The festivities lasted until a late hour and the good nights came from hearts overflowing with good wishes for the recipients.

Wanted a Life Term.

A young man in the treasury department who took an examination recently for promotion ran up against a curious question, but he was equal to the occasion, and his ready reply will doubtless stand him in good stead when his average is made up. The question asked was this:

"How long do you expect to remain in the civil service?"

"Until death do us part," was the reply, unhesitatingly written down.

Father Ryan.

No American poet has given clearer proof of the possession of poetic genius of a rare order than Father Ryan. Certainly no poet has achieved a more enduring fame and secured a warmer place in the hearts of the people of the south than the "poet priest." He is distinguishedly known as the poet of the "lost cause"—as the bard whose harp sings so sweetly and so pathetically the requiem of a brave and a proud people over the grave wherein their hopes and aspirations have been buried by the mysterious dispensation of an almighty and all wise Providence. This fact puts Father Ryan in a unique place, separated from any other American poet of his time. As to the high intrinsic literary value of the majority of his poems, of the genuineness of his poetic faculty, and the excellency of his gift of song there can be no manner of doubt.—Allakhest.

A Handsome Gown.

A handsome gown made in Berlin is thus described: "The skirt of a mouse gray reception toilet was of figured moire, decorated with an apron-like arrangement of openwork embroidery, the rosettes and flowers being made very plastic by means of a thick underlining, which permits the delicate shade of the satin lining to shimmer through. The waist was similarly arranged with a traverse empiecement of small satin bands, which fell over the lobot of yellow guipure lace. On the neck was a garland of wired points or tabs and white silk gauze ruches. The waist disappeared beneath a belt of gold and silver braid finished with silver rosettes. The leg o' mutton sleeves were in the form of a spiral above, the plaits narrowing in the lower part."

Personal.

Sawfleigh—I tell you what it is, there's some funny things happen in this world.

Keener—That's a fact. How long ago did you happen in?—Boston Courier.
